IN MEMORIAN

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our father, A. B. Ferguson, who passed away Sept. 29, 1952.
God called you home, it was His will
But in our hearts, we love you still.
Your memory is as dear today,
As in the hour you passed away.

Though your smiles have gone forever,
And your hands we cannot touch,
We will never lose sweet memories
Of the daddy we loved so much.

It is lonesome here without you,
But some day, some time, our eyes
Shall see your face we loved so well.
Some day we'll clasp your loving Hand, and never say farewell.
Sadly missed by —Children.

COMMENT ON SPORTS

By Pete Frtichie

Washington, D. C.- Bud Wilkerson's Oklahoma "Sooners" had only one close call in 1956. This is interesting to keep in mind while watching the "Sooners" during the 1957 season.

It will be recalled that Oklahoma only squeezed by Coolrado by a 27-19 margin, or four touchdowns to three. That is a pretty slim margin even for the "Sooners."

This year, after the Pittsburgh game, Oklahoma is meeting Iowa State, Texas, Kansas, Colorado, Kansas State, Missouri, Notre Dame, Nebraska and Oklahoma State.

In all fairness to other football teams, it should be pointed out that this schedule is not the toughest in the country by any means. Notre Dame having sunk from the graces of the football geruts last year cannot be said to be a football power until this fact is again proved, and not counting the Irish as an upset potentially, few teams on this schedule are likely to give the "Sooners" trouble in their last eight or nine games.

But no football team can go undefeated forever. The odds just up and stare every football coach in the face, sooner or later, and Oklahoma is no different from any other team.

Michigan State, for example plays a much tougher schedule than Oklahoma. After Indiana, the "Spartans" take on California, Michigan, Purdue, Illinois, Wisconsin, Notre Dame, Minnesota, and Kansas State. Only Illinois and Minnesota upset the "Spartans" in 1956, and Minnesota did it by by one point. Illinois did it by seven.

Notre Dame has another tough schedule, and after Purdue, on Indiana, Army, Pittsburgh, Navy, Michigan State, Oklahoma, Iowa, Southern California and Southern Methodist. Not to take anything the "Sooners," but they just don't have the tough schedule other teams play.

Play safe - drive carefully.

CHICK CHATS

The first rule for success in egg production is to put a good flock in a good house. Besides providing a house that is comfortable, draft-free, and well-lighted, this means providing a clean house.

Sanitation is important in preventing disease in the laying house. The house should be clean at the start of the season, and it should be maintained in a sanitary manner.

Before housing the flock, clean the house and equipment thoroughly. This means getting rid of any accumulated filth, dust, cobwebs, and so on. Then scrub the house with hot water and a strong cleansing agent.

After this is done, disinfect the quarters with a chemical disinfectant. Choose a fairly warm day for this, when the temperature in the house is above 70°, so the disinfectant can work most efficiently.

Don't forget to do the same to the equipment. This can be done outside, leaving it to dry and be moved in again following drying and sunning.

When your house is clean and dry, put down clean litter, about three inches of it. This will make a good, absorbent bed for the birds' droppings. Add to the litter as the season progresses; you should have five or six inches of litter when cold wather arrives.

With these sanitary preparations, you have good surroundings for the laying flock. Then, during the season, keep up ood sanitary practices—clean and disinfect fountains and feeders regularly, stir the litter and remove damp spots, keep birds away from droppings as much as possible.

You will find that there is much less trouble with disease when a sound sanitary program is followed. And your success with poultry rises as your disease problems fall.

Most older folks will tell you that the old days were wonderful but, if they're honest, few of them would wish to have them back.

Grey and canary are set to be color trend for men in 1958.
